AUTO SAFETY HOUSE ANNOUNCES SUSTAINABILITY INITIATIVE

PHOENIX, AZ, August 12, 2008 – Auto Safety House (ASH) formally announced the introduction of their “Sustainability Solutions for Fleets” program. The program will bundle current and future fleet sustainability solution products and services offered by Auto Safety House for easy identification by all fleet operators and administrators.

“Auto Safety House has been providing products and services that meet “green”, environmentally friendly criteria for some time now. We are now ready to move forward in a more pronounced way with a new ASH sustainability branding on all products and/or services that meet that standard. Our plans moving forward will also include providing environmental impact data that will enable an end-user to calculate within some reasonable measure how their use of these products and services are reducing consumption and protecting the environment. The scope of this initiative and our commitment to this sustainability program will also include further alignment of our internal business processes and practices to incorporate ways to minimize our own carbon footprint and impact on the environment as well.” commented Jim LoPresti – Chairman and CEO of Auto Safety House.

Auto Safety House is a distributor of new and used buses, truck equipment, bus, truck and trailer parts, and also performs emergency vehicle modifications, and offers a diverse mix of heavy duty mechanical service in facilities located throughout the Southwestern United States.
